A small parcel of Yars has just arrived, and been sampled, but not yet landed. The quality is rather medican, but, owing to the existing searcity, will bring a high price.

The export demand for K summely fail of in the early part of the month past, and the market appeared to settle down quietly, at well maintained prices, to supply the home requirements by moderate sales out of a limited stock left; but, toward the latter part, purchases of some moment were made of finer grades for foreign account; and as jubbers and manufacturers came at the same time freely in the market, to lay in the medical supplies are the desirable stocks were finally absorbed, holders of fine selections obtained the highest prices of the season.

Hots—The receipts at East Albany are encormous, and it now looks as if there would be little or no abatement in these heavy weekly supplies during the Winter mouths. The explanation is, that at Cinctinatia and adjacent points, where every acasen hitherto the sloughtering has been heavy, there will be comparatively little packing this Winter, owing to be given will be comparatively little packing this Winter, owing to the civil wer in Kentacky and the Anticipations indeliged in by some that the troubles may be extended into Southern Obil. THE THEATERS.

A holiday night at a theater is worth seeing. The actors on the stage are the smallest part of the play. It is the audience. Then come people who really enjoy the best, and the worst of the performance. They may not be over neat or elegant. Their nails may not be cleaned or their fingers gloved. Their hair may not be kempt, or their fashions metropolitan. They may exhale too much dinner and drink. But they do possess the faculty of abandon. There is about them none of the jaded by percritical air of those who can afford to go often to the play, and from whose succeptibilities to its attractions the finer edge is dulled. How hearty is their laughter! How resonant their applause.

Such an auditory was assembled at the Theater on Thanksgiving Night. It was delightful, although the scent of the rose hung about the vase-or in other words, the aroma of much turkey with sage and onions, was present. The Paritan notion of Premium. 44 44 45 gratias agimus tibi, domine, is gaily modified when G.
